THE JOSIE SHEPHARD CASE.

THE EVENING WORLD has no thought of relinquishing its exertions for the return of JOSTE SHEPHARD. The exiled boy's cause is too righteous to be abandoned.

But for mere sensation and journalistic effect THE EVENING WORLD is unwilling to in any wise endanger or prejudice the case before the Indenturing Committee. Therefore, having presented an array of facts, backed by affidavits that shou d be conclusive in any court of law, it patiently awaits the action of that committee.

It has now been decided that the committee will not make its decision in the matter until the regular meeting on the evening of July 23. We regret the delay, but prefer delay to lack of thorough investigation.

A righteous cause welcomes the light.

PROTECT THE PEOPLE.

However persistently the Aqueduct Commusioners, the Chief Engineer and the contractors may endeavor to cover up their acts. it is very evident that the public interests have been the very last thing considered by any of them in the prosecution of the work up to the present time.

It is impossible to tell just how much the city has lost through incapacity or worse on the part of those intrusted with the management of this great public enterprise. Already the expenditures have more than doubled the estimates. It is not too much to say that isgraceful scandal is stopped Aqueduct and the dam will fasten a debt of mearly or quite $50,000,000 on the city. How much of this will be dishonestly expended?

The Real Estate Exchange has moved to protect the interest of the taxpayers. The Governor ought to be requested to remove the Commissioners or to compel the Legislature at its next session to reconstanct the Aqueduct Board. It is outrageous that the scandal should be allowed to continue.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

The British Government has so far yielded to the force of public opinion as to consent to the creation of a commission of judges to examine the charges made by the Times and the Attorney-General against Mr. PARNELL and other Irish members of association with the Phoenix Park assassinations.

The impartial ty and honor of English Judges cannot be depended on in any case in which the Government has an interest, and the Government would certainly be well pleased to find the Times sustained by the decision of this tribunal. But if the truth is allowed to be told, there can be little doubt that the Times will be convicted of perjury and forgery in its statements, and the Attorney-General of falsehood in his accusations. The Commission, such as it is, is better than nothing, and is a good sign that the Times does not like it.

Larceny and embezzlement are the vulger charges made again t young Napoleon Ives in Cincinnati. His P i ne M nister, or favorite Marshal, STAYNER, is included in the indictment. Yet young Napoleon only a short time ago was on his triumphant march over the Wali street Alps, bound to hurl JAY Goven from his throne and to divide up his kingdom. So we go.

Whatever may be Queen NATALIE's faults, everybody will sympathize with the mother who has been so brutally separated from her

A Notable Week in Newspaperdom. To the Editor of The Evening World

The array of novelties in THE EVENING WORLD of late must give the nightmare to slow-going, meaningless old-fushioned journalism. In your paper for the present week alone I find (1) a gallant fight for the return of an unjustly exiled boy: (2) the exposure of the meanest of mean gamblers, the policy sharps, and the rarrest and indictment: (8) the appointment of a physician to treat gratuitous. ly the sick babies of the poor; (4) the intensely interesting Word-Building Coulest; on the Sixteenth Assembly District and many other testures not to be found in any other newspaper in New York. When these are combined with IHE EVENING WORLD'S notable enterprise in news gathering I am not surprised at your constantly increasing G. A. R. A Word of Appreciation.

To the Editor of The Evening World:

Being a constant reader of The Evening World I will take the liberty to express my feeling towards it. I think there is no such penefactor in or curty, none that does so much good to benefit the poor and needy. I have noticed The Evening World is emhave noticed THE EVENING WORLD is employing a physic an to att nd to the sick children of the poor, and think it a great deal more than any other evening paper ever did in our city. THE EVENING WORLD is the pioneer paper to do good, and we ought to be grateful to Mr. Pulitzer.

Some of the Old-Timers Who Made the District Famous.

Its Parks, Dispensaries and Other Time-Honored Institutions.

> BY JOHN W. M'DONALD.

> > CHAPTER III.

The story of the Sixteenth Assembly District would not be a complete one wi hout some space being devoted to the timers." You can meet them in First Ave nue, Second avenue and Third avenue, and they are always willing to tell of the days that have passed away.

Many of them can recollect when the district was sparsely settled and the houses were few and far between.

PROMINENT OLD-TIMERS. "So you wish the names of some of the old-timers who are still living ?" ejaculated a veteran Sixteenth District man.

"Well, I can give you a few. Do you know Frank Clark? Put him down. And Billy Gans, who keeps a saloon up in Second avenue, near Twenty fifth street Why, he was captain of the old Reliefs Target Company that used to turn out when you were a cradle

" Don't forget Thomas Brogan, the Second svenue butcher, Boss Brogan, as the boy call him, and a fine, bonorable, good, kind, plain gentleman he is, too. Boss Brogan is a friend of everybody and everybody is his friend. John N. Hayward and William Hayward. They are rich now and we don't see much of them.

THE RELLY BROTHERS.

"Ex-Assistant Alderman George Kelly, now in the Custom-House. John Kelly, his brother, who keeps a livery stable, is also a tuneral director. Eugene Durnin, Tweed's jester; Dick Dalton, once a prosperous quor merchant, now an attendant in Ludlow Worms, who kept a cigar store for Sec ond avenue men, near Twenty-second street where a crowd of the boys liked to meet P. J. McQuillen, who was at one time considered such a handsome young fellow. He us still fine looking, but he is getting along in years. "I came near forgetting the Bray Brothers and Barney McGaffney. A NOT D CHARACTER.

"There's Nick Langdon, the famous Bouncer's candidate for Alderman. Oh: Nick is a character. Everybody knows him. He ran for Alderman during the Tweed days, and he sava he was elected at sundown and defeated at sunrise. Nick Langdon is a humorist, and the boys like to hear him tell stories. He was a great admirer of the late John Morrissey. But I can't for the life of me remember all the old boys. Come and see me some other day and I will freshen up my memory." ny memory.

There are dozens of the old boys in the dis-drict who used to "run wid the machine" in the good old days of the Volunteer Fire Department. "Old Mutual 51" used to be in Twenty-second street, between First and Second-avenues. She was, perhaps, better known as "Shang," and her runners as 'Shangs." FIRE LADDIES.

STUTVESANT PARK.

A veteran fireman was heard to say the other day: "Seems to me I can now see '51' turning into Third avenue. Yes, I see her swinging around Constitution Hall. And who are rushing along with the 'Shangs?' There's George McGrath, Andy Sutton. Pat McManus, Nick Moore, Frank Clark, Bob Kennedy, Tommy Cowan and Hen Mulhall. And what a gaig there is following her up. Oh, how I remember those old days. THE OLD " RED GAL."

"Yes, young fellow, and it makes me feel old. Have you a chew of tobacco? Well, c gar will do. Seven Lex., did you say? Oh, yes, she was 'Oid Red Gal,' and used to lie on Twen y fifth stieet, between Second and Third avenues. Good firemen and good fighters, too. Little on the dandy business, though, appears to me.

"I ought to remember some of the 'old Red Ga' boys? Why, certainly I do. Sam Cheshire, Bob Ennever, Charley Munson, Bill Hayward, Harris Wines, John Hughes, the painter; John Mullane, the feed man; John Gannon, Ed Marrenner and others, Some of them are dead and gone and there

John Gannon, Ed alarrenner and there Some of them are dead and gone and there are others who are living to deny that they are getting old. Will I take a drink? Don't mind if I do. Let's go over to Leopoid Worms's."

DISTRICT "CHESTNUTS."

Os an old map in the Register's office can be found the following foot-note: "All that portion of Petersfield farm lying west of Second avenue and the blocks bounded by First and Second avenues and Twentieth and Tweuty-second streets were left by Peter G. Stuyvesant to Hamilton Fish. Gerald Stuyvesant and Rutherford Stuyvesant. All that portion of Petersfield Farm lying between First and Second avenues, Stuvvesant and Twentieth street, was left to his nephews and nieces."

FARMS IN TROSE DAYS.

Rose Hill farm began at Twenty-second street and ran in a n rithwest direction, with Se ond avenue as its eas ern boundary, Murray Hill was north of Rose Hill.

The original high-water mark boundary came to First avenue. There are people living who remember seeing the tide finding its way to a point now occupied by First avenue and Eighteen h Street. Nearly all tha part of the Sixteenth District east of First avenue is made or filed-in ground.

A REAL OLD RELIC. Old Constitution Hall, southeast corner of Twenty-second street and Third avenue, was in ye olden t me a favori e place for benefits, dances and raffies. It is no longer used for these purposes. There is a first-class liquor saloon on the first floor, which was kept for years by the late popular Hugh Kiernan. WHEN WE WERE BOYS,

The famous Franklin Forge used to be where Shultz & Walker's mineral establishment is now located, on the east side of First avenue, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixh streets. Many of the old boys will remember the big rito-hammer, and how they used to warm themselves on cold days by sneaking into the forge, They were "hookey" boys then.

Rose Hill Hall, on the west side of Second boys then.

Rose Hill Hall, on the west side of Second avenue, just above Twenty-fourth street, has for a decade been a political headquariers. The late Capt. Mike Oregan and his followers met there for years, and several of the liveliest kind of primaries have been held within its walls.

STUTVESANT SQUARE. There has been a misapprehension about the status of Stuyvesant Square, the lungs of the Sixteenth Di tr.ct. The oldest inhabitants have handed down a story that the heirs of the Stuyvesant family deeded this beautiful plot of ground to the city with the provise that the gases of the park should be closed at sunset. This story is devoid of that the gases of the park should be closed at sunset. This story is devoid of the park should be closed at sunset. truth. The park, which is d vided by Second svenue into two parks, was de-ded to the c ty with only one proviso and that was that the ground should forever be used as a park and whenever diverted from such use it should revert to the heirs of the Stuyvesant estate.

THE WORK OF ARISTOCRATS. THE WORK OF ARISTOCRATS.

The Park Department has exclusive control of Stuyvesant Park. Years ago the aristocrats who reside around the park took a dislike to the crowds of poor people that swarmed into it at eveningfile from the thickly popula ed district east of Second avenue. The aristocrats petitioned the Commissioners to close the gates of the parks at dusk, and alleged that the recorder who assembled there evenings were disorderly.

The gates were ordered shut at the booming of the sunset gan, and they have been

The gates were ordered shut at the booming of the sunset gen, and they have been closed at that hour ever since. There is no more reason for the shutting up those two parks at the hour of darkness than there is for building a wall around Madison Square and placing sentinels on guard to keep people out at nightfal.

A BUBNING SHAME. The residents of the Sixteenth District are as orderly as those in the vicinity of any o her square kept open day and night, and it is an insult to the hard-working people of the Six eenth District to slam the gates of this breathing place into their faces on these warm summer eve nags. If there are disorderly people in the neighborhood there are also park policemon, and a tew roughs should not keep de-erving men, women and children out of a cool place summer evenings.

Open the gates of Stuyyesani Square, put Open the gates of Stovyesan; Square, put or benthe gates of Stayvesan Square, put more benches in it and g ve the men, women and children who reost on roots and fire-escapes a chance to get a cool whiff of air without endangering their lives and limbs.

To Word-Building Editor Evening World:
As you have honored the "new word" with a place in your Word-Building columnit might not not be uninteresting to your myriad readers to learn its definition and how it occurred. Here is the story: myriad readers to learn its definition and how it occurred. Here is the story:

Some years previous to the fall of Napoleon III. the Shah of Persia sent as a pre-ent to the Emirress Eugenie a pair of kid gloves which his royal artist had covered with the skins of humming birds of the most brilliant feather cemented to the leather. This exquisite work of art—the first and only thing of the kind ever attempted—has never yet had a word by which to distinguish it, but which will henceforth be known as the DWINNTHEREGLOVE, in honor of The Evening World—the humming bird among newspapers.

Prominent Republicans Grumble Over His Elevation to the Chairmanship. The members of the Republican National Committee and of the Executive Campaign Committee continue to hold confabs at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The chiefs are trying hard to harmonize their differences of opinion relative to the management of the boodle campaign.

There is no doubt whatever that the selection of Senator Quay, of Pennsylvan's, as Chairman of the National and Executive committees has displassed many of the prominent moguls of the G.O.P. prominent moguls of the G O. P.

The anti-Quy crowd in Penusylvania, led by Emory Smith, Gen. Reeder and others, were opposed to the campaign being managed by Quay. The Western members of the committee were also opposed to him, and they are still grumbling.

Boss Platt, of New York, was solid for Ouav.
